

Lang Eric Sundby serves as the Executive Director of the Space Force Association (SFA) where he has led initiatives to create a Congressional Space Force Caucus and foster bipartisan support for the newest U.S. military branch, and created advocacy programs in higher education, gaming, and the wider space industry.

He holds a BA in Economics from the University of Oklahoma, an MSc in Global Security from the University of Glasgow, a Graduate Certificate in Commercial Space Studies from the Florida Institute of Technology, and is currently pursuing a PhD in Aerospace Sciences at the University of North Dakota.

In addition to SFA, Eric serves on the Board of Advisors at the Sooner Flight Academy, VP of the Holocaust Art Restitution Project, and is the Co-Founder and CEO of TerraSpace.

Eric's hobbies include snow skiing, piloting, traveling, and studying history. He enjoys living at his family ranch in the Texas Hill Country with his wife and two dogs.